

Headteacher blog

This Month ...

The Macmillan coffee event was a great success – lots attended. It was a great opportunity for new mums to get together and share stories. In addition parents got to know some new staff teams and have a chance to talk about how their child has settled into school after those long holidays. It was great to see wider family members, grans and cousins old family friends who came to see Acorns at its best! We raised nearly £400 pounds – drivers and PA's gave us money too. What a fantastic achievement for such a small school – I am always amazed by the amounts we raise for very deserving charities. Next year we will serve teas and coffees to the tables to help with the general flow and efficiency of the event- if you have any ideas that would help further please shout out!

The playground project has been hampered by poor weather – the contractors are temporarily off site so I am a little frustrated by the delays! Hopefully it will be signed off later this month.

The break out areas are nearly finished – I am happy to report that Willow and Oak class have amazing new outdoor break out areas – some pupils really love to be outside, feel the wind and to be able to move around freely for a short time. Staff can take activities outside thereby increasing learning and playing opportunities.

Reminders

Please keep sending in the photo's of you reading, playing and chatting together. Our foyer display is so lovely because it shows the children being children!

And Finally...

10 families were represented at our Makaton Children's event. Rachel Short (Oak class teacher) did a fabulous job of sharing her expertise and enthusiasm for all things communication based!